Limits

One problem of tying yourself down to one, exclusive group is that your view of the world can become limited by the views of the group. Try the exercise below; then discuss your feelings with classmates.

Follow these steps:

1. Cut the circle out of this sheet.
2. Cut a picture out of a magazine or newspaper.
3. Place this sheet over the picture so that the circle only reveals part of the picture. Tape the picture in place.
4. Give your sheet to a classmate. Have him or her guess what the whole picture shows and then, answer the questions on the lines below.
5. Reveal the hidden picture.

1. What do you think this is a picture of? _____
2. Was it hard or easy to guess? _____
3. Do you think the person who prepared this sheet was trying to make it hard or easy for you to guess? _____
4. How do you feel about having someone control what you can see? _____
